Q: How does syncing work?

A: Check out this website to learn more about syncing and see the following how-to videos:

1. Mobile syncing
2. Syncing on the web

MoveSpring syncs your steps data from your device's cloud server online (not directly from your device or the corresponding app). To sync your steps to MoveSpring, you need to first make sure they're available in the cloud.

To do this, open your device app on your phone. For example, open the Fitbit app. Pull down the screen to refresh (touch the top of the screen and drag your finger down) and this will push your data into the Fitbit cloud. Next, open the MoveSpring app and your steps will sync.

General Syncing Information:

To sync steps data into your MoveSpring account, you will need to open the MoveSpring app on your phone or go to the MoveSpring website and click the green Sync button at the top right. MoveSpring cannot sync your steps data if you do not open the MoveSpring app or website.

We recommend syncing several times a day to keep your data up to date in your challenge. All MoveSpring challenge groups have a 72-hour grace period after the challenge ends to give you extra time to sync your final steps.

Q: How will my name be displayed in the Step Up for Stepping Strong challenge?

A: The username and avatar you create when setting up your MoveSpring profile will be visible to other challenge participants only.

Q: How do I edit my profile?

MoveSpring allows you to easily change your name, profile picture, username, email, password, and time zone, as well as your preferences for showing your distance in kilometers or miles.

Q: How do I edit my notification settings?

A: MoveSpring will default to sending you push notifications. To manage these settings, go to your Profile tab, select the gear icon in the top right-hand corner to edit settings, scroll down, click on notification preferences, and adjust as you'd like!

If you enable push notifications, you will receive push notifications on your mobile device that will result in a pop-up message on your lock screen. Simply click this alert to be brought back into the MoveSpring app.

From here, you can see the chat conversation you've missed or engage with a piece of content just posted within your challenge group.
